2.2.1 - The institution assesses the learning levels of the students and organizes special Programmes for advanced learners and slow learners

The Institution evaluate the learning levels of the students after admission through continuous monitoring and their overall performance in teaching learning process of the college.

Advanced Learners: Once the advanced learners are identified through the induction test, institution takes special care to promote the learning needs of such advanced learners by providing additional books and journals and they are also encouraged to participate in various competitions such as moot court, debate, judgment review writing, client counselling and interviewing, model parliament, finding of ratio decidendi competition etc at College, University, State and National level. Students are also encouraged participate in research activities, paper presentation, seminar presentations, assignment etc. They are also motivated to make publication of the research papers in the Journals and Magazines.

The Slow Learners are those students whose grasping capacity is not up to the expected mark towards subject taught hence there is a need to take special care of such students. Therefore, the College has introduced mentor mentee system where in slow learners are personally counselled and they are also trained through the remedial classes. Teachers take special and revision classes on the basis of need. Special training is being given to prepare notes and how to write answers in the examination. College also conducts various activities to improve their communication and other skills. Mentor is appointed to each class in order to identify their problems, issues and to guide them accordingly. The performance of slow learners is continuously monitored through: · Conducting test, · Simulation exercises and · Motivating them to participate in co-curricular activities.
